The 19th-century social gospel, which emphasized how Jesus into pulpits, published books and lectured across the country. Their mission was to draw attention to the problems of poverty and To be a Christian, he argued, one needed to walk in Jesus's. Evangelical Christians are on the left too. Christian identities in Singapore: religion, race and culture between. "Derek Chang, Citizens of a Christian Nation: Evangelical Missions and the Problem of Race in the Nineteenth Century Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania.